In my own little world I'm unaffected by reality You're real to me, even though I know I'm caught up in a fantasy
Saturday night, every night in my day dreams
I guess right now there is no other place I'd rather be
And here I am in my own little world
I'm still your girl and you still love me
To feel that way I think I'll stay here in my own little world

In my own little world, we're still sitting on your tailgate Life is a breeze, easy like the smile you put on my face
I could snap out of it anytime I want but then I know that I'd just go back to missing you again

So here I am in my own little world
I'm still your girl and you still love me
To feel that way I think I'll stay here in my own little
world
Here I am in my own little world
I'm still your girl and you still love me
For today I think I'll stay here in my own little world
