"Try To Forget Us"

I am the child in your memory. You block me out, but I am still there.

Haunting your dreams, you block me out, but I am still there.

When you are reminded of your sins, just try forget
When you are reminded of the pain, just try to forget
When you are reminded of your sins, just try to forget
When you are reminded of the pain, just try to forget
us

I am the holiday you miss, you can make believe, but I am still there, stealing your peace. You can block it out, but you still want me...

When you are reminded of your sins, just try forget
When you are reminded of the pain, just try to forget
When you are reminded of your sins, just try to forget
When you are reminded of the pain, just try to forget
us

I'll find you, eventually... eventually...
