

Molly Brown "Sabotage"

Visit "Sabotage" on MotoLyrics.com

It's that choir of wrong when every word was right.
Those senseless phone calls in the middle of the night
And that one good thing that always gets away
And the only reason I can never make you stay

It's the great escape the moment it gets tough
And the mercy cry that's never loud enough And it's a whisper barely heard outside the walls of where I learn Shut my eyes instead of fighting no I'll never face that lining

You better pray that you'll get out before I sabotage
it all somehow.
You better pray that you'll get out cause I will sabotage it all somehow.

It's your heart of glass that I loosen from these hands
And barely breathe as we both listen to it land And maybe shatter like it should Oh god I never understood the way I find it all so easy Let somebody up and leave me

You better pray that you'll get out before I sabotage
it all somehow.
You better pray that you'll get out cause I will
sabotage it all somehow.

And it takes me over
That never moving forward
Yeah it takes me over Oh babe it takes me over

You better pray that you'll get out before I sabotage
it all somehow.
You better pray that you'll get out cause I will
sabotage it all somehow.

Visit Molly Brown page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

