In the heat of the night, let's hope it rains again.
I'll have you here by my side. In the morning will we be friends?

And your eyes they give no steer
And I'm just filled with fear.
Your lips and mine have never met.
Another evening, another evening
Another evening of regret

Are these games that we play? All the words we never say.
What's the sign to start? Does it need to be so hard?

Chorus

The clumsy date we should have had, scared that it might go so bad.
All the friends that we might lose, will cement this big excuse.

Chorus

I never learnt this lesson well, instead returned to live
this hell, again, again and again (repeat)
