

Nancy Faber

"Cowboy Boots"

Visit "Cowboy Boots" on MotoLyrics.com

I was sitting on the front porch steps in this one horse town my eyes were fixed on the horizon watching the sun go down. I was wearing my blue jeans and my cowboy boots and thats when I saw you. I saw you in that preowned chevy truck got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to rock. You were playing that air guitar in the front seat of your car got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to be a star. That very next night you came around in your pickup truck playing music in the background. So you hopped on out of that truck and took me by the hand and you asked me to the dance. I saw you in that preowned chevy truck got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to rock you. You were playing that air guitar in the front seat of your car got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to be a star. So I hopped into the passenger seat and we drove far from Quick but about five and a half miles down the car called it quits. Yea it was real dark by now and there was no one around. He said, "There's something I have to ask you" and it brought me back to the first time that I saw you. I saw you in that preowned chevy truck got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to rock. You were playing that air guitar in the front seat of your car got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to be a star. Well I'm so so glad we didn't make it to that dance that night because then you wouldn't have asked that question and I wouldn't be wearing all white. I saw you in that preowned chevy truck got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to rock. You were playing that air guitar in the front seat of your car got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to be a star. You played it on that long jamming out to my favorite song got my cowboy boots on and I'm ready to jam along.

Visit Nancy Faber page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.