Well I've been running round in circles,
Trying to make some sense of this.
And I know exactly what you're doing,
And I know I'm gunna fall for it.

And I've tried, and I've tried to build my walls up high
But Oh, I know they're coming down.

All I wanna know is, where all this is going.
I can't read your mind boy, it's best to let me know.
Staring at the sidewalk, watching while you're leaving.
Wishing I could be that girl you call your own.

I hope you know I've had some trouble
Trying to find the words to say.
They're getting lost in the transition & don't even

Make it to the page.
And I'm filled to the brim with skepticism,
I'm in over my head.

All I wanna know is, where all this is going.
I can't read your mind boy, it's best to let me know.
Staring at the sidewalk, watching while you're leaving.
Wishing I could be that girl you call your own.

And I know that this could be for nothing.
Maybe I'll be the fool who just dies trying.

All I wanna know is, where all this is going.
I can't read your mind boy, it's best to let me know.
Staring at the sidewalk, watching while you're leaving.
Wishing I could be that girl you call your own.
