She can't be gone, I am certain
Steady and sure as the rain
That falls from the darkness, between the bombs
A single tear each for the slain

I count her here not among them
She remains with the quick and the strong
'Stead the enemy's crept in, like the darkness of sin
To take her in exchange for my wrongs

Chorus
Still falls the rain
Still falls the rain
And still falls the rain

Most men fight their wars with the outside I've toiled in trenches within
The difference of source leads the matter of course to a victory I'll never win

So I'll fight the enemy that I can see
He'll perish by bullet or hand Then I'll win her back and my victory to cover things in me she did not understand

But still falls the rain
Still falls the rain
And still falls the rain
