I want you to notice when I'm not around; nowhere to be found

And I know that there is more to the story that we have
Than what meets the eye with you and I

You and I

And you hope that things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you
And you hope that things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you

And you hope that things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you
And you hope that things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you
That things don't go that way for you
