Tonight i'd like to tell you about a girl at first i thought she was an angel Her bluest eyes the way she smiles but she's more than these it's a shame that i real know her after years we met

I see you cry behind the evil of people who never cares about you I've always tried to be there in spite of that i hope you understand if i want to be the one who makes you smile

From the high of these hills i see all the city and i'm wondering where you are Maybe a day we'll be the king and the queen of the same castle
but now i can only see the brightest light from far it doesn't matter, if you're happy, i'm too

Sometimes i'm scared i don't know why i'm pretty sure about my feelings for you How can i handle every sweet words written by your lips expressed by your sight

From the high of these hills i see all the city
Maybe a day we'll be the king and the queen of the

The best gift i can give you is the only one from my heart that's not foolishness just you that sparked off my emotions happy birthday happy birthday everything you have to know is writing in this song how much i care, about you girl on and on

From the high of these hills i see all the city
Maybe a day we'll be the king and the queen of the
