I wasn't wasting but I was stumbling in the dark My heart wide open, just where high water left it's mark
My feet step lightly now no hunting shadows from the past
You came with peace to my soul now I just want this life to last I just want this thing to last

Cause now I found you, I found you
You don't know yet, but I do We've been waiting all our lifes for this moment to come by
You don't know anything 'bout me
And I don't know anything 'bout you
You don't know anything 'bout me
Still feels like I've known you all my life

My flames were fading as, as I was falling through the skies
I numbed my conscience, to find a place in all these lies
And I'm admitting, there were times when I was close to giving up
To giving up
And so I pushed it and forced my heart until it stopped, I forced my heart until it stopped

But then I found you, I found you
You don't know yet, but I do
We've been waiting all our lifes for this moment to
come by
You don't know anything 'bout me
And I don't know anything 'bout you
You don't know anything 'bout me
Still feels like I've known you all my life

I keep moving so slow and time keeps moving so fast
They say the older we get well the less we know Well I just want this life to last

Cause now I found you, I found you
Oh I adore you, let me adore you Now I found you, I found you
Oh I adore you, let me adore you
I know you are everything I need
I know you are everything I need
I know you are everything I need
I know you are everything I need
