How the autumn never leaves and my laundry never dries
How my house is full of thieves and my bed is full of lies Calling on the fortune wheel, hearts of gold and hands of steel
May they hold me for a while, 'til the earth begins to sigh

Do you watch me fall, do you hear me call
Do you reach for me do you know me at all
Does it make you scream, does it kill your dreams
Do you break me down to the very core?

But I feel alone and I just don't wanna talk about it...

Earth is moving while I wait, something tells me I'm so late While the drugstore's never closed, tight as skin this cloud of hate
Call it evil call it greed, love is fragile and it bleeds Oh an angels' what I need, oh an angels' what we need

Do you watch me fall, do you hear me call
Does it make you scream, does it kill your dreams
Does it break you down to the very core?

When I don't know what to do, when I don't know what to do When it's breaking me in to
When I don't know what to do, when I don't know what to say Something's haunting me this way is it hurting you this way?
Do you watch me fall, do you hear me call
Do you reach for me do you know me at all
Does it make you scream, does it kill your dreams
Do you break me down to the very core?
