A moment more

I'm feeling so cold to be here alone along this unexplored path the night has just gone but the way is still long I've gotta pay for all I've done wrong this is just my last desire a moment more to speak about love just me and you (a moment more to speak about love just me and you)

that's all that I want and all that I need (that's all that I want and all that I need)

I can hear you and all of your fear and I swear that they are killing me

I would stay there with you and hold you so tight not just look at you from such a high this is just my last sigh

(a moment more to speak about love just e and you)
that's all that I want and all that I need (that's all that I want and all that I need)

I would kiss you my love but my lips are cold and numb I would tell you many things but I can no longer come I would kiss you my love
but my lips are cold and numb
I would tell you many things

(to touch your lips, mess up your hairs, a moment more to relive all the ambitions you gave me)

that's all that I want and all that I need (to dry your eyes while you were crying, a moment more to relive all the emotions you gave me)
