Fishing for a friend
Can't remember when it was dark
Or the sun coming up
Far across the ocean alone
While numb bears at home
Said I could never get there Never get there

Breaking little twigs with my feet
And underneath
Is a road that's so steep
Far across the ocean alone
While numb bears at home
Said I could never get there
But I'm already there

already there, already there,
