Baby tell me what you're doing
What you're gunna do
Cause you know my body's aching
For someone like you
You're not that sensitive
Maybe I could be the one to hold you every night
I could tell by looking dead into your smoking eyes
It's what you want to hear

So follow yourself
You could never be nobody else
So follow your heart
I believe that you have seen it from the very start
We feel all right
So let's do it all tonight

As we stumble to the ocean
Find a place to hide
Feel the crashing of the world
And a hint of light
Seeping down your spine
You're moving and breathing faster like you've got a lot to give
Watching the red sunrise is just the way you live
You're unpredictable

So follow yourself
You could never be nobody else
So follow your heart
I believe that you have seen it from the very start
We feel all right
So let's do it all tonight

When the morning comes will you still be looking?
Cause I know I can show you the way
Why don't you get your body working?
You'll never know your skin until your feeling it with me

So follow yourself
You could never be nobody else
So follow your heart

I believe that you have seen it from the very start
We feel all right
So let's do it all tonight
