You say you lived
Were you good enough to live again?
Day of of the dead
Were you good enough to resurrect?
You use your friends
Were they good enough to use again?
It's all been said
Was it good enough?
I'm sure it was

Sever off the strings you used to hold us up
Straighten out my broken fingers, I'm crawling out
The walls you hold around me keep on falling down
And everything is good enough, like it was

The hour we know
Is it good enough for everyone?
And when we're done
Was it good enough?
I know it was

Sever off the strings you used to hold us up
Straighten out my broken fingers I'm crawling out
The walls you hold around me keep on falling down
The sweetest lies you told me are just rotten now
And everything is good enough, like it was

Sever off the strings you used to hold us up
Straighten out my broken fingers I'm crawling out
The walls you hold around me keep on falling down
And everything is good enough, like it was
Everything is good enough, like it was
Everything is good enough, like it was
Everything is good enough
Like it was
