And don't you think that it's strange. That I call you by a different name. Whisper to me oh never let it snap two for my seconds never let it snap two for my seconds. And in time it's all your fault for the minute for the minute it's all your fault for the minute tonight.

And you must think that I'm wierd. Because I'm holding a grudge. I never told you that I won't back two for my seconds never back down two for my seconds and in time it's all your fault for the minute for the minute it's all your fault for the minute tonight.

And it's so. It's fantastic mezmorise my memory childhood thoughts can comfort me in this house of mine.

Why don't you think their alike? Like you've been wanting to say? I never told you that I thought I was fooled for an hour thought that I was fooled for an hour and in time it's all your fault for the minute for the minute it's all your fault for the minute tonight.

And it's so. It's fantastic mezmorise my memory childhood thoughts can comfort me in this house of mine. In this house of mine.

You think that there's just this other step that we can step up to dress us up just how you like and put us on this pedostool talk about the way we are the way you think and you think you're so special now. x2

And don't you think that it's strange that I call you by a different name. Whisper to me oh never let it snap two for my seconds never let it snap two for my seconds and in time it's all your fault for the minute for the minute it's all your fault for the minute tonight
