They handled a pint of love with kidâ€™s gloves and ordered what we could never resist,
We were automatically signed in and they laughed us through a portal of pretence.
We could have never agreed if they were wrong or if they were just mysteriousâ€¦
We took this ride for life but no one really knew where toâ€¦
They were never certain and we still had hope.

Chorus:

We see the world through the same eyes
We are eyes so divine
They are icons in tune with what we do as friends
Fighting as one we meet the setting sun each day
We are militant and proud
We are friends

They were very social and have come and gone Love has no controls but as unsure as we were, we agreed to face the music inside
Like a million poor faces, we were still one
We signed on to stay close and never break up
We were shocked by a â€œnoâ€¦, even when they meant, â€œyesâ€¦
They were as cruel as they were kind
We were friends only once
They were honest with a â€œnoâ€¦; we grew wiser and sure

Chorus:

We see the world through the same eyes
We are eyes so divine
They are icons in tune with what we do as friends
Fighting as one we meet the setting sun each day
We are militant and proud
We are friends

They could not believe we could be one again
We plan to be, at least, social Reuniting was what we never had plans for and another game together

New faces we all welcomed were met with newer and better songs, not the blues
The newest ones we met elevated us
They had structures that moved forward
Meeting as we did, once again, they, too were happy
We could be as solid as gold for another day
They showed up to grow this time

Chorus:

We see the world through the same eyes
We are eyes so divine
They are icons in tune with what we do as friends
Fighting as one we meet the setting sun each day
We are militant and proud
We are friends
