The city lights are bright from where we are luminated, you know I'm not far huge storms will try to blow us away they're jealous, they know we're here to stay

When distance knocks on your door, just let it out brooklyn hard streets with

worn out cold feet
keeping metronome
to an off beat

our heart's beat
faster than them
and them
and them
and so I stay

worn out cold feet
keeping metronome

our heart's beat
faster than them
and them

just let it out
