Wrapped in a polythene, tucked away safe in my mind
a little goodbye, maybe, or just a passing smile

The birds fly away to the southern sky searching a home
a bunch o' paper flowers, or a little boy left all alone Can somebody hear me, I'm screamin' from so far away
morning who'll calm you, now the evening's eclipsed again

*Well does life get any better
more yesterday than today
How I thought the sun would shine tommorow
But it rained...

They justified the cause for which Daddy might gave up his life
,it's been so long, so long a time but still I miss Daddy at night
The ache is long gone but they never keeps staring along the waters in the seas are high, and all the sand castles have drowned

*Well does life get any better
more yesterday than today
How I thought the sun would shine tommorow
But it rained...
