

A Past Unknown "Divided"

Visit "Divided" on MotoLyrics.com

What will they see? Conviction?
Corruption? Actions are dead when they don't add up to the words that are spoken, there's no justifying, no getting yourself out of this.
You reap what you sow and then some more,
they see you for who you are.
Which side will it be? There has to be a difference from the rest. Don't claim to be what you're not, condemned we stand condemning others when we are the worst of all. We will never attain perfection, humble yourself from within.
If others don't see the difference, don't boast anything. We are set apart, so live it. Who will they see when they are beaten?
Unloved? Mistreated? And forgiven?
They will know we are different by how much we love them. This is my plea to you, remember the love given to you that you did not deserve.
They will know, we are different by how much we love them. They will see a difference, they will see love. Live it out.

Visit A Past Unknown page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.