

Alex Parks "So Emotional"

Visit "So Emotional" on MotoLyrics.com

It's too easy to say that nothing feels right
I can make some lame excuse, say I'll be better tonight
I can let you go on thinking that it's something you've done
But it's nothing between us, there's no guilty one

But there are sometimes, there's no way to explain
And there's no rhyme or reason for the way that I'm feeling this pain
I just get so emotional, so emotional
When there's no way off the floor
And there's no one else's door to lay the blame

Keep my eyes closed, my tears weren't meant to be seen
I'm fragile like a small bird caught in the wind
And I can't bear to pretend anymore or too anyone It's just one of those days and there's no guilty one

But there are sometimes, there's no way to explain
And there's no rhyme or reason for the way that I'm
feeling this pain
I just get so emotional, so emotional
When there's no way off the floor
And there's no one else's door to lay the blame

But there are sometimes, there's no way to explain
And there's no rhyme or reason for the way that I'm
feeling this pain
I just get so emotional, so emotional
When there's no way off the floor
And there's no one else's door to lay the blame

But there are sometimes, there's no way to explain
And there's no rhyme or reason for the way that I'm
feeling this pain

Visit Alex Parks page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.