There's nothing worth fighting for now. This dream has become a nightmare so i just have to let my love die. Everyone else will have a good life of love, things will go great, i may be mocked and made to be lower than dirt because of the life of abstinence i have chosen. But it should be kept in mind that Life will not cheat me in the end because i didn't play dirty. So all i'll say to you and me is "Never mind i know i'll find someone like me, so i wish nothing but the best to all of you in love- have a great life ahead. Life's good will not forget me, i know, i remember when people say sometimes it hurts in love and most times, in life but everything will pass.

Sometimes it hurts in love, and most times in life but it will all pass. It will all pass some day. :-[
