The letting go was the hardest part that I ever did Hard to admit but man I thought that she was heaven sent Sitting and thinking about would could of been I reminisce
On how it always tortures me loving you is my nemesis Now your in love with someone else and I've fallen to hard
As you sit me up on a shelf and I'm falling apart
Now its hard to restart
The next womens either going to have to fix me
These symptoms are so addictiong
Yet painful its contradictive Joyful but yet it hurs
The fact is you got it bad but the truth is I got it worse
I can even think of what I'm going to say next
The love in me has dies so I'ma take my next breath Let it breathe.

Don't know the definition but yet we're all about it I put my heart back together and built this wall around it Cuz see this life hurts, but love kills and I'm still wondering how truly being loved feels I think of giving up occasionally day to day But see now seeing lyrics the reason that I decide to stay
So if I die today
Somebody tell her that I'll miss her and I love her Way more than I love another
You do what you gotta do it's either do or die
I'm heartless committing emotional suicide
It's either you or I and I choose me Because you don't know your the reason that I continue breathing
Lord I know that I've been distant man Because I remember praying when I believed that you were listening Now I know you are, yea I know you are Timeless like an automar and this right here's the hardest part.
