

Pleasantry "Swan Song"

You are, you are,
You are my shining moonlight.
Your voice; it sounds,
It sounds like a song I used to sing.
The leaves, they fall,
They fall like teardrops from your eyes.
I know, I know,
I know something isn't right.

[*]
The book we wrote,
Leaving a trace of memories.
These words I read
I can no longer comprehend.
The truth, the lies;
Where do we draw the fine line?
You knew, but why?
Of all those hearts you could break.
This hurt; it burns,
Burns through the silence of the night.
You're gone, you're gone.
Forever has a number.

Au revoir, au revoir.
So long my shining moonlight.
Au revoir, au revoir.
So long my shining moonlight.

[*]

I'll never know what you don't know.

We'll never know what they don't know.
