I feel a little bit insane
Since I left that saturn plain
'cause I felt global energy
I can't believe what I have seen
He glided to me without a sound
"so long", he said and fizzled out
The space-ships lights all turned on
And in this moment it was gone
They are beautiful like meat-pie
My flesh began to creep
But they're friendly like no others
Their life's really so sweet
I feel a little bit insane
Since I left that saturn plain
'cause I felt global energy
I can't believe what I have seen
I feel a little bit insane
Since these sweet aliens came
Maybe their conscience is not clear
Maybe their victory is near
They need no cars, no aeroplanes
They fly with thoughts and have no names
Welcome you with kisses and with hugs
And you should try their alien drugs
And if glocalpyromanuals
Ever touch your hand
You'll be bewitched from outta space
From orange blue creatures land
I feel a little bit insane
Sometimes they seem to know
Everywhere that we might go
I feel a little bit insane
