Tonight my love has died
A destiny's son is crying and wondering why
Why the stars that you passed above
Are bleeding to death until they're gone one by one.
Tonight I was losing a friend
I buried the past, the future will be the end
It is still miles away, but it's coming closer step by step and day by day.
That's why I say
Love is made for today
The hours of fame are a wild raging flame
That's why I say
Love is made for today
The heights that we climb
Are just a vision of time
Your pride is burning my mind
I feel the clock is running out of time
I'm hanging on to the twist of fate
I can try so hard but I can not hate
The love we made
