i'm thirsty soil
a bunch of a grass in the desert racked by wind i don't know when the cool rain washing me only the moon burns the signs on my leaves so dry so burnt i'm glowing on fire signs of desire carved into my hands are burnt by the dust that whirls in hot the wind all around it brakes the stems burns the leaves they fall and burn rocks and sand this shelter that was hiding you this shelter of hope and lies the wind and the rain broke it desire don't wanna be a burning leaf any more i wanna be your gardener your moisture and life i wanna be the drop of the water on your lips i wanna be the tears of your happiness just as you're mine

i'm just yours
