Throw me a rope to climb
Trying so hard not to fall through the ice
Why are you so afraid to roll me the dice
Loneliness can be a strange device
Someone save me I'm falling down again
Someone save me I've hit a dead end
Someone save me
I can't make it without love

Make me a fire 'cause I'm starting to freeze
Help me take this night away, baby if you please
Why are you so afraid to catch my disease
Loneliness can be a strange way to please
Someone save me I'm falling down again
Someone save me I've hit a dead end
Someone save me
I can't make it without love

Tell me a story and I'll open the door
I wanna feel good like we did before
Tell me why don't you sing me to sleep no more
Loneliness is like a secret war
Someone save me I'm falling down again
Someone save me I've hit a dead end
Someone save me
I can't make it without love

The oil and the water
The silence and the noise
The river and the desert
The sweetness and the sour
The need to be connected
The stubbornness in breathing
The rituals rejected
The rhythm's barely heard
The laughter and the screaming
The humble and the vain
The sunlight and the downpour
The joyous and the pain
The birth and the collapsing
The logic and violence

The need to be assertive
The challenge to let go
Let go
Let it go

The window to the soulless
The meditative spirit
The ear that never listens
The sage who doesn't know
The love that urges closeness
The love that wants protection
The love that has no mission
The love that's ever quiet
Ever quiet, everâ€¦!

The love that paints a picture
The love that moves a mountain
The love that's only fleeting
The love that never dies
Never dies, never diesâ€¦!
