Someone has broken thru.
They cracked the code,
and they're transmitting it to you.
And you're clamoring in the hallways,
and you're rushing thru the crowd.
The message is interrupted, but the signal comes in loud.

(Chorus)

They're beaming love.
It's beaming down.
Let it signal all you lost and make you found.
They're beaming love.
Let the signal rise.
Let it creep into my cracked and broken life.

as I move into this space.
The air is cold,
a spot light across your face.
And your faces and more faces,
they connect one by one.
The messenger interrupted,
I am still receiving, still receiving, still receiving...

(Chorus)

love.
It's beaming down.
Let it signal all you lost and make you found.
They're beaming love.
Let the signal rise.
Let it creep into my cracked and broken life.

Are you people together, together?

(Chorus)
