When you went down
The stairs of the bar.
You know, I have lost complete control.

My ears and my head
Were in nowhere.
My stomach began to hurt.

I know, those tears could hit you
But do you really care?

I was on the front of that amp in club

Staring at your foolish group and your foolish crowd
I came to you and you never thought
About looking at me not once.

I know, those tears could be more,
But do you really care?
To see your friends laugh from their sleeves?
But do you felt the same?

You, me
Never be.
You, me
Never be.
