(Come on just kiss)

(Come on just kiss)

Sometimes I feel like a motherless child

And it doesn't matter if I say I love you

No matter how good the day is

At the end we just faking our best

There was a vision once

That I know we've lost

Nothing matters of value

But it all has a cost

Sometimes I feel like a motherless child

And you wonder why I'm drinking more and more each day

I don't want to come home - I don't want to stay

Cuz the world revolves around what you do and feel and think and say

And if I express myself, it just draws you away

Sometimes I feel like a motherless child

Sometimes I feel like a motherless child

(And you wonder why)

Sometimes I feel like a motherless child

(And you wonder why)

Sometimes I feel like a motherless child

(And you wonder why)

Sometimes I feel like a motherless child

(And you wonder why)

Sometimes

And you wonder why
