

The Rebuilt Machine

"Tres Ojos"

Visit "Tres Ojos" on MotoLyrics.com

The whole road is mine tonight
And I'll just keep driving until I find
Someplace to be.
The sky seems so low tonight
And I just can't help but wonder why
It was this road that's taken me this far.

Just one thought that keeps ringing through
My head is how I never knew
Just how lonely being lonely can be.
And simple thoughts don't come for free
They always seem to follow me
Like cinder blocks I carry on my back.

Just one time I would like to be
The guy who gets the girl
And sees the whole world from a city on a hill.
But heroes sometimes have to fall
And the good guys just can't win 'em all,
And we all have to eventually see
Just how lonely being lonely can be.

Visit The Rebuilt Machine page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.