Whispers lie awake to save my soul,
Guilty choices standing in a row.
Forgive my aching cries,
I'm broken and paralysed,
Traces of my sanity revoked.

Fear strikes down on those who hear His name,
Those who lived before us placed their blame.
Live your life of lies,
You're broken and paralysed,
Live with all your vanity; no hope.

What if the sky fell through where past reunites?
No more sorrow, no more doubt,
You'll fight in this life for what's right.

I feel this more now that I realise,
In life comes fall and it's killing me now,
My selfish thoughts.

Whispers lie awake to save my soul.

What if the sky fell through where past reunites?
No more sorrow, no more doubt,
You'll fight in this life for what's right.

Do what you want to do,
Look inside of you,
In your final days,
Then you'll appreciate why.
