

Rob Klajda "Johnny Come Back"

Visit "Johnny Come Back" on MotoLyrics.com

Sometimes I go walking,
Sometimes I go wondering,
How could I waste more time?
Laughing at people who worry
â€˜Cause time passes by
Has there been a mistake?
Have I been a disgrace?
Did I let someone down somewhere?
Sometimes I go walking
Just to move through the air.
Johnny come back to America,
The family farm is falling down,
If only youâ€™d come back around,
These fields of green would rise again.
Do you think that you could lend a hand?
No one but you can work this land.
Youâ€™ve always been a stubborn man,
But canâ€™t you compromise this time?
I hear every time
That you mention my name,
You curse me, you bless me
And leave me the blame.
If I were you I couldnâ€™t say
I would not do the same.
Understanding each other
Leaves things to discover,
You think that you know me well.
But I never told you
Everything that I had to tell.
I saw in the garden
You planted some roses,
Each one in my memory.
The garden you planted
Is my favorite place to be.
When you hear the wind whistle,
Itâ€™s a tune that Iâ€™ve written,
To let you know that Iâ€™m near.
I can never return but for you
I will always be here.

Visit Rob Klajda page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
