RUN
"Fix It"

Visit "Fix It" on MotoLyrics.com

I can only pretend to be someone else.

I'm not even sure how to be myself.

All the hope I found in you is gone as I try to write a different song.

So relate me to someone you once knew,

And talk to me of all the things there are to do.

Refer me to the doctor and the nurse,

And tell me how to fix this fucking curse.

Now, everything seems so hard,

When the only thing that's easy falls apart.

Broken beaten scratched and scared,

I don't even know where to try and find the start.

Now it's caving in, creeping down my throat.

Taking everything it whispers to me.

Scratching at my skin and I can barley breathe

Screaming in my face oh why won't you just die?

So relate me to someone you once knew,

And talk to me of all the things there are to do.

Refer me to the doctor and the nurse,

And tell me how to fix this fucking curse.

I can only pretend to be someone else.

I'm not even sure how to be myself.

All the hope I found in you is gone as I try to write a different song.

So relate me to someone you once knew,

And talk to me of all the things there are to do.

Refer me to the doctor and the nurse,

And tell me how to fucking fix it.

So relate me to someone you once knew,

And talk to me of all the things there are to do.

Refer me to the doctor and the nurse,

And tell me how to fix this fucking curse.

So relate me to someone you once knew,

And talk to me of all the things there are to do.

Refer me to the doctor and the nurse,

And tell me how to fucking fix it.