I was your amour, I was your wall
I was your guardian, you were my all
I was your savior, I was the wings
Whenever you'd fall.

Call me a liar
Call me a fool
Call me the words
You rightfully used

I was a coward
I was a user
Through and through

Now I know that I should have fought for you
Now I know that I should have been beside you

You were my water
You were my grace
You were my ocean
You were my waves

I couldn't breathe
I couldn't speak
When you walked away

I could have laid there for weeks
Whispered i'm sorry
And that's all that i'd be.

Now I know that I should have fought for you
Now I know that I should have been beside you

Now I know that I should have fought for you
Now I know that I should have been beside you
