My Name

Verse

I feel alone when I close my eyes, knowing you're in another country
Walking with your own disguise, knowing that you'll never want me
My desires got tangled up, and became hard to manage
When your photograph popped up, next to a guy who speaks Spanish

Chorus

I can hear your voice
I can feel your touch
The way you danced that night, but I know that's not enough
To hop on a plane
Different city, but both the same
But I'm the only one to blame
For the girl not knowing my name

Verse

4 years since I fell in love, had the look of a confused child
Years later and that child grew up, out of luck for quite some while She's never known, and she's never asked, her direction has got no compass
But in the end, I'll reveal her mask, to find a cure to my madness

Chorus

I can hear your voice
I can feel your touch
To hop on a plane
Different city, but both the same
But I'm the only one to blame
For the girl not knowing my name

Bridge

All the while

Maybe it's easier than I think

It just takes her smile

And I got another trip to the shrink

And I won't waste another year (High)

Chorus

I can hear your voice

To hop on a plane

Different city, but both the same

But I'm the only one to blame

For the girl not knowing my name
