I tear into faces like corridors
I stare at these places
Have we been here before?
I tried so hard
But I guess you'll never know

You should've called!
Oh, you should've called!

If something's wrong just tell me
You know you should've called
You change your plans to please me
But you don't say nothing at all

If something's wrong just tell me
You know you should've called
I'll make this easy
But don't waste my time
You should've called

I glare into faces like tv sets
I scare myself but I still have no regrets
I won't try hard
But I guess you'll never know

You should've called!
Oh, you should've called!

I'm sorry but I'm fine
I'm sorry I'm always on time

I'm sorry you can't read my mind
I'm sorry!

If something's wrong just tell me
You know you should've called
You change your plans to please me
But you don't say nothing at all

If something's wrong just tell me
You know you should've called

I'll make this easy
But don't waste my time
You should've called

If something's wrong just tell me
Oh, you should've called!
You change your plans to please me
But you don't say nothing at all

If something's wrong just tell me
Oh, you should've called!
You change your plans to please me
But you don't say nothing at all

Oh, you should've called! You should've called
Oh, you should've called! You should've called
