"The Weight Of Us"

There are thieves, who rob us blind, and kings, who kill us fine, but steady, the rights and the wrongs invade us, an innocent song.
I'm not ready, I'm not ready
For the weight of us,
for the weight of us,
for the weight of us
for the weight of all of us.
There's a cold heart, buried beneath, and warm blood, running deep.
Secrets are mine to keep protected by silent sleep
I'm not ready, I'm not ready
for the weight of us,
for the weight of us,
for the weight of us,
for the weight of all of us.
The time has come, let us be brave
The time has come, let us be brave Shake off all of your shame,
the time has come, let us be brave.
The time has come, let us be brave.
let us be brave
let us be brave....
