Accept the laws of destiny, mirage of a twisted fantasy
To realise what came before, was just the passing of a cause
So with rapture burning, indignation churning
Leaves an acerbic state of mind
All in your mind

Purge the hypocrites
That are your enemies
Masquerade of faith
Sucking dry on the bones of wisdom

Caustic words are your defence, to justify incompetence
How it must smart when you're alone and face the truth
you've always known
Ingratiate yourself, save face and nothing else
When it's over vilify
Hands to the sky

Purge...

So one and the same
Devoid of dignity
In plague of conscience now
Propagate their fantasy and fail

Exact the caustic tyranny, chalice of human misery In weak defence of hopeless cause, but lethargy was all you brought
Malign through scorn abundance
You've always been the hunted
Now your sentence takes its toll
Into the void

Purge...

So one...
