Open your mind, you can't just box the world you live in Fear of change becomes faith in a stagnate vision Behind your firewall is access to infinity Don't waste your time confining the free state of being

'cause people once thought that the world was flat
And that Earth was the center of all existence

Do humans have a soul?
How could we ever know?
Science has not shown any evidence!|
My methods are right
And your beliefs are fuct!
Existence sprang, from a big big bang!

Every sound wave, every thought wave, every light ray, every word you say, all that energy Pooling all around, twirling into sound, spiraling down like a mary-go-round to gravity Wheel of time, chakra force, source of consciousness and course, pendulum back and forth, the power to create
So drop passive complacency it's just a leaky canopy, claim a fresh perspective that the world is subjective
