Going out into the eastern snow
in pursuit of buffalo.
Just one beast will feed the tribe,
their life is our key to survive.
Armed with supplies and ammunition by the bluecoats, with hunting permission.
Weâ€™ll return once we have gathered more than enough.
We shall return in triumph!

Camped at a horse bend on Sand Creek, Colorado
Cheyenne and Arapho; a peaceful ensemble â€™Peaceâ€™ treats from white man, itâ€™s the end of November
Here he comes in all his splendor, oh an ode to Colonel Chivington!
Full of hate, self righteous state, thickly laced with deception

What will be the outcome when you think thereâ€™s a war to end?
And you have the power to make laws bend

Forget the stroking of the pen
Not revenge but land dispossession â€™leave no claims, can you say ?
theyâ€™ll have no place to hide!â€™
The warriors had left the camp
To hunt their game, such a clever trap
Chiefs and children left without defense
Attack when vulnerability is best

Under the truce flag gifted by your great father Bluecoats destined to manifest redskin slaughter
â€™ with discretion, we shall take no surrender.
Free to take plunder after every man and woman.
the elders and .â€™
all peaceful parties then they chose to.

â€™Canâ€™t you see youâ€™re not my enemy and we could live in peace!
Collect your priceless trinkets: Guns and bows and!

Take it all its worth something, I wish this were just a bad dream!â€

Both tribes with prejudice

â€œYour land is ours,
Weâ€™ve unleashed hell!

Youâ€™re doomed!â€

Die! History hides the lies
Die! The death of the tribes
Speak! When the future is so bleak Speak! What will you be?
Die! History hides the lies
Die! The death of the tribes
Speak! Please remember me
Speak! Cause I died at Sand Creek
