Oh, oh, oh

the nights are wearing me down, and it's hard getting through the day

I need you right now and right now you're so far away I guess that I should have known, that I'd end up this way

I'm coming home, and nothing will drag me away this time

don't you never leave me baby, don't you never leave me now

don't you never leave me baby, if you leave me you will kill me now

And I'll start living in a memory, i'll start living in a memory

I need you

oh oh

the lights are slowly going down, on Lexington Avenue and me, i'm all alone, feeling the tears falling down from my eyes

a subway train is passing by, driving into the darkness i jump inside cause I ain' got nowhere to sleep tonight

me now

kill me now

And I'll start living in a memory,

i'll start living in a memory of you

I need you

me now

kill me now
