

Sidney York "Go Home, Atticus Jones"

Visit "Go Home, Atticus Jones" on MotoLyrics.com

Tell me, say that you will but you won't,
And you can, but you don't, and you say I love
you...
You don't have to tell me, I know that you do.

You say that I'm the smart one but then we Both stand our ground while you try to outsmart me.
Have I told you you're funny? You don't even need to try...

For those who swim this deep
The tadpoles only see...
I launch this boat it sails to only you,
Over the blue...
Ooo...

You watch sports on the TV while I read,
You tell me the score like you think it concerns me
And right now it doesn't, but baby I'm learning.
You smell sweet like a good bar of chocolate,
Though it's full, you made room for me in the closet.
You putter, and ask where your slippers might, as if they were on my feet,

For those who swim this deep
The starfish only see...
I launch this boat it sails to only you,
Into the blue...
Ooo...
Ooo...

Tell me, say that you will but you won't
And you can, but you don't, and you say I love
you...
You don't have to tell me, I know that you do.

Visit Sidney York page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.