Broke in my heart and took my gold
And after all that I've been told
The horror stories that I read
While Mom was putting me to bed

I put a lock on every door
He wants to get inside I'm sure
He's only there to mess around
And be the talking of the town

A thief tearing my whole world down
A thief turning my whole world around

I know I failed every test
He knew which button he could press
Now my heart it beats out of my chest
It's never getting any rest

I didn't want him to see me cry
But every word became a lie
And only he can read my mind
His every touch is like a crime

A thief tearing my whole world down
A thief turning my whole world around

Tell me what am I to do?
(You better watch her)
Tell me who to talk to?
(Better keep it on the downlow)
Because I really wanna quit loving you
(It won't matter)
So why am I talking you into letting you still break in?

A thief tearing my whole world down
A thief turning my whole world around
[x2]
