when my feeling comes of everything falling apart something happens that keep me up it tells me that this is not the end of life and i believe through the prove that comes after sometimes am ready to live and not determined to die and that as a solution to my problem does not imply it will take a moment for me to rise because i believe in patience that gonna make me shine put me in lower level not on the upper level and let that be a habit even when am in higher level because when i rise i will never fall or ignore my up lifters at all my grand ma used to tell me life will be okay and my girl make it like my grand ma used to say it will take me a while before i get used to life of luxury because i come from a gutter and that make it easier for you to understand why chorus go to a sacred up wising that my advice that you will be needing and you better be taking heed
