"Disconnect, Disconnect"

Every time I hear your name, it bears an uncanny resemblance to defeat.
I never wanna touch base, because it's hard to face the things we've been.
I don't remember the precious things,
remember the ways you showed your worth.
All of this breathing in
And never, breathing out
When hope you feel the pull, it'll bring down to where I go,
and that's what I know of life, 'cause it was all a joke.
What I know now, I could never go back to you.
Disconnected, disconnected, disconnect.
Your heart attack, it comes right back, right where we left off.
I point the gun too much.
You're fucking such, an easy target.
I couldn't carry a goddamn thing, but you, but you gave it anyway.
Half-flattered you believed in me, half-sorry you made a mistake.
When you feel the pull, it'll bring you down to where i go and that's what i know of life, 'cause it was all a joke.
What i know now, I could never go back to you.
Disconnected, disconnected, disconnect..

I hope it's cold in your room, let the warmth lure you home.
I hope it's cold in your room, and like a magnet it'll bring you home.

When you feel the pull, it'll bring you down to where i
go and that's what i know of life, 'cause it was all a joke.
What i know now, I could never go back to you.
Disconnected, disconnected, disconnect..
What i know now, I could never go back to you.
Disconnected, disconnected, disconnect..
