Maybe there's a ghost inside my closet a whispering voice that tells me who I am so do you want me to be so different? but how can you pretend to change me?
I'm breaking the rules
now you seem so confused

I'm safe to play
'cause no one except you knows that it's just a game
I think that you should feel much better than me you say that you're afraid but why should I believe this?

Sometimes I'm better off alone sometimes I feel like dead and gone but it's just who I am (why do you want me to be so different?) blame me like a fool I'm more than myself nothing more than a human changing all the rules before I forget that you feel so confused

It's funny how people can change It's funny, see their strangest way to make themselves believe that everything's ok
