We are alive
and we will not forget everything we shared and when we'll get away from here these things will never be the same again but I will keep my eyes open we looked the same sky trying to decide what is wrong and what is right but life seems to move so fast and we'll never know how long it will last so take this chance to hold your breath it all makes sense when everything's ok...

It's ok
we're living it we're giving every piece of our heart to grow and stay the same today I feel no shame I'm giving every piece of myself

There is a place that you call home a distance between our souls where you decide your fate where you can see so clearly that the only thing you have is just this chance I swear it's true so hold your breath

take this chance to hold your breath
