"Lay Low"

Before you were mine, I'd stay at home, I was all the time
I'd lay low, lay low, oh
Before I was yours, I'd almost always be behind closed doors
I'd lay low, lay low, oh

But promises were broken, now I don't feel the pain
Oh, you don't light me up like you used to Don't light me up like you used to
You don't light me up like you used to

There were days, there were years when an argument would end in tears
We'd lay low, lay low, oh
We got so close that at times, you know I confused your thoughts for mine
We'd lay low, lay low, oh
But promises were broken, now I don't feel the pain
Oh, you don't light me up like you used to
Don't light me up like you used to
You don't light me up like you used to do, like you used to, no

You know that it's been a while Since you've danced like you used to
Made a laugh or smile like you used to
You don't light me up like you used to do

But what if I fell right out of the sky
Back into your bones, back into your life

Oh, you don't light me up like you used to
Don't light me up like you used to
You don't light me up like you used to Like you used to, like you used to

It's been a while
Since you've danced like you used to
Made a laugh or smile like you used to
You don't light me up like you used to do
Like you used to do
